FERROFISH: premium AD/DA and format conversion

For years, German manufacturer FERROFISH has enriched the business with AD/DA and format converters boasting outstanding reliability and versatility to integrate into the most demanding work environments and achieve excellent results. Flagship converter A32 DANTE allows for 32 channels analogue-to-digital conversion and just as many ways from digital to analogue – at a device height of only one rack unit. Connectors for MADI (optical and coaxial), DANTE and four ADAT interfaces (which can also be used for SPDIF signals), the A32 DANTE seamlessly fits into almost any production setup. Similarly versatile are the Pulse16 models, combining 16 AD and DA channels with MADI and ADAT. The VERTO series offers ideal solutions for incorporating digital peripherals into DANTE networks: four ADAT interfaces (TOSLINK) in the VERTO32, eight ADAT I/Os in the VERTO64, optical and coaxial MADI options in the VERTOMX. With this portfolio, FERROFISH features solutions for virtually every professional digital connection in excellent quality.

MARIAN: audio cards for the most demanding applications

Leipzig-based MARIAN offers a range of high-quality audio cards for professional applications characterised by their impeccable sound and phenomenal reliability and longevity. From analogue inputs and outputs with superb converters to interfaces for all kinds of digital formats, the Seraph series DSP systems harbour possibilities for integrating computers into every audio production environment. All MARIAN DSP systems feature a highly precise clock with extremely low jitter. Up to four cards can be operated simultaneously within one system through TDM SyncBus technology. In addition to these hardware qualities, MARIAN audio cards provide users with multichannel DSP processor "The BEAST", including a virtual 56 channel mixing desk with phase reverse, AUX channels, metering and EQ.

MXL: top-quality microphones and conferencing solutions

American microphone specialist MXL is known for innovative solutions covering a wide array from studio and instrument microphones to conferencing technology like the AC-360-Z V2 – a conferencing boundary microphone with twelve capsules to capture sound around the microphone in outstanding quality. For podcasting applications, MXL offers the VPS Bundle, comprised of broadcast microphone, professional-level webcam, converter and boom. An extensive range of various excellent studio microphones completes the portfolio.

Lake People: finest audio electronics

At the Lake People electronics workshop near Lake Constance, Fried Reim and his team manufacture audio devices eliciting praise from both professional and private customers through their sheer sonic quality. Lake People offers microphone preamps and DA converters and is particularly well-known for its exquisite headphone amplifiers. With the Phone-Amp G111, the German electronics specialist introduces a new headphone amplifier based on the legendary G100 and continuing its impressive sound legacy. In Amsterdam, visitors will also find a number of other Lake People products like the Reference Series models.

Mogami: immaculate signal transmission through quality cables

Even the best audio components need to be connected to each other at some point – Japanese manufacturer Mogami cares deeply for this connection. Only the best wiring can transmit high-quality signals at their full spectrum and without loss. In order to achieve the high standards the company sets for itself, Mogami produces in its own manufacture in Nagano exclusively – and has done so for more than 40 years.
